

Yoimoji of the Week

Jazzle the Creative Zebra

Draw a character who might live here.
Think about what they would need to be like to live in these conditions.

I think a wolf might live here because they like snow. They have a good sense of smell to help them find food!

Roy did some fantastic drawing and writing about wolves.

Poppy, Kaiden and Brandon have done some amazing writing about ice.

See I write clear, nice, cloudy, ice. Silence sometimes. Silly looking. So that they and us feel like leaves. I smell clean and fresh air. I love hills old smooth. They are rough. It tastes like sugar water.

Mary-Ellen and Clayton were very creative when we made melted snowmen pictures.

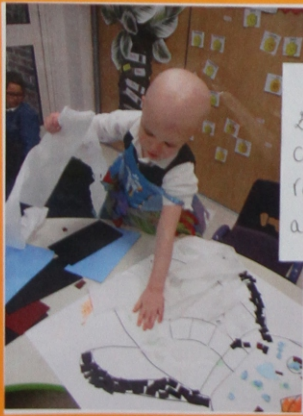

Brandon and Poppy made a super card to say thank you to their student.

Well done Sophie for your creative ideas in drama!

Kelsey has been very creative this week in the swimming pool pretending to be a dolphin and diving to catch 'starfish'.

Amy S made creative icicles for the prom.

Emmie Rose was very creative when using a range of materials to make a penguin collage!

Kacey has been so creative over the past fortnight! She has joined art sessions for the past 2 weeks, making a crocodile and a Lion, and has enjoyed making her own playdough in class!

Hazel worked independently to creatively write a piece about her senses in the art.

Hazel

I can see
I can hear
I can smell
I can taste
I can feel

Firs Class

Shanice has been verbally creative this week, making lots of sounds with her voice.

Well done Alfie for some excellent character description!

The Tiger Who Came to Tea

LO: I can describe the tiger from the book 'The Tiger Who Came to Tea'.

The tiger was orange

The tiger ate all the food because he was hungry

The tiger's fur was striped

Jazzle is creative.

I'm full of new ideas. It's great fun coming up with different ways to do things and express myself.

Earl was creative this week when he helped to paint our class igloo. He also suggested putting cushions inside to make it comfortable for everyone!
