Class News from Adventurers

As part of our Stargazer topic, Adventurers have been learning about the moon landing as well as properties of materials and what different materials are used for. This week, Adventurers have been challenged to find appropriate materials and make rockets to keep their egg-astronaut safe. Adventurers selected materials generally made from paper, plastic and fabric for their rockets. We are happy to report that no eggs were harmed in the making a trip to the tufftray-moon!
