

Yoimoji of the Week

Dufflepaw the Reflective Koala

Chloe was reflective about how she is going to be a great student council member.

Oscar has been reflective about his behaviour and the choices he makes this week. Well done

Well done Jason for reflecting on your behaviour and playing nicely the following day

Leo was very reflective about his face paint for our topic launch. Before, he didn't want his face painted but on reflection he decided he loved it!

On Wednesday, Alice remembered that we were talking about melting snow in our circle time from our lesson on Tuesday.

Akbar has been reflective by thinking about his friend Thomas this week, and can't wait for him to come back to school.

At the beginning of our snow themed circle time, Skylar said that the snowmen 'went down' when they melted. After learning about snow and that it melts, she then said that the snowman melted.

Well done Alfie for making good choices using your working towards system.

Well done Bella for reflecting on what she found during a class walk.

Isaac reflected on his choices and decided that fiddling with a toy wasn't helping his learning so he put it away in his locker. Well done Isaac!

Taylor has been really reflective with his working towards system and has gained lots of cups of tea this week!

Lesson objective: I can write a caption describing my photo from Tipton Park.

Millie has been very reflective in Literacy, correcting her spellings with support!

the pig is LYING IN HIS SHED

the pig is LYING DOWN in his shed

Kaiden was reflective about his behaviour and apologised to the person and the rest of the class.

Sam has been reflective about his Maths learning