

Yoimoji of the Week

Gruber the Responsible Goat

Jamie was very responsible at the Capitol, supporting his fellow actors in our performance of King Lear.

Ashraf was very responsible when using scissors carefully in our RE lesson.

Niki has been responsible this week, independently supporting his friends with their work and reminding his peers to make good choices.

Isaac has been really responsible helping staff around the college.

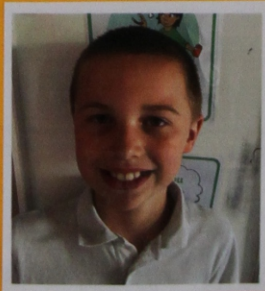

Zach has been responsible this week, taking the bikes to the shed after play time and helping to put them away!

Leo has been responsible this week wearing his hearing aids!

Anthony has been responsible this week by helping to look after his classmates and classroom.

James has become more confident to try a range of tastes and textures during our cooking sessions!

Eddie has been responsible this week when out for a spring walk and crossing roads.

Emilia was in character as Goldilocks this week as she looked after Daddy bear and was responsible for making sure he ate up all his porridge.

Josh has been responsible for his packed lunch items and tidying away carefully.

Gruber is responsible.

I'm in charge of what I do. When I take on a task, it's up to me to do well and people can trust me.
