As parents, when we first found out that our son had special needs, we really had no idea what help was available to us and how to access it. Over the years we've found out ourselves about some of the assistance that is out there and we've been told about much more by other parents.

Some of this we only became aware of after several years of missing out on help that we would have been entitled to (it's estimated that every year in the UK there are £15 billion of unclaimed benefits that people are entitled to), so we've put together this document with the hope of helping other SEND families to make sure they're accessing all of the help and resources that they're entitled to. There's lots of information readily available on the internet about everything we've listed, so this isn't meant to be a detailed guide on any of them, more to signpost assistance that people may not even realise is out there.

We hope that someone will find this useful.

Adrian & Tracey

(This is all totally unofficial! If you know of anything else that you think would help others that we could include, or if you spot anything we've got wrong, please let us know).

Disability Living Allowance – DLA

DLA is a benefit available to children under the age of 16. It pays from £24.45 to £156.90 a week and is dependent on the level of help the child needs. It is not means tested, which means you can claim regardless of what your income is. You don't need diagnoses to claim DLA, it's based on your child's needs (but obviously the more evidence you have the more it will help your claim). DLA is divided into two components, one based on the level of care the child needs (Care Component) and the other on the mobility needs of the child (Mobility Component). The mobility component is only available to children aged 3 and over (ages 3 to 5 can only be awarded high rate mobility). For those aged under 3 with the highest needs, you can apply for discretionary grant from the Family Fund Motability Scheme to lease a vehicle through the Motability scheme:

<https://www.familyfund.org.uk/mobilitysupport>

DLA Website: <https://www.gov.uk/disability-living-allowance-children>

Eligibility criteria can be found here: <https://www.gov.uk/disability-living-allowance-children/eligibility>

Disability Living Allowance (DLA) for children

If any part of your claim is going to be based on your child having a brain condition (eg Autism, developmental delay etc) I would highly recommend downloading this guide and reading it before you fill in your application.

<https://cerebra.org.uk/download/disability-living-allowance-dla-vc/>

The Contact.org.uk website is also very good and they publish two really useful information sheets:

<https://contact.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2021/03/DLA-guide.pdf>

https://contact.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2021/03/dla\_for\_children\_with\_autism\_and\_learning\_difficulties.pdf

It can take several months for DLA applications to be processed, but any award you receive should be back dated to the date they received your application, and you will initially receive a lump sum payment for this period.

It's important that you understand their criteria fully and include as much information and supporting evidence in your application as you can. It's also a good idea to use the DLA's own wording regarding eligibility as much as possible when completing the application. (I'd also recommend keeping a copy of your completed application so you've got this to refer to should you need to challenge their decision).

High Rate Mobility Component (which is the only mobility rate you can be awarded for children under 5 years of age) is available to some children that can walk if they meet certain criteria, but these are notoriously hard to prove. On the DLA's Eligibility Website it says you are only entitled to High Rate Mobility if your child “cannot walk, can only walk a short distance without severe discomfort, could become very ill if they try to walk or they're blind or severely sight impaired”. However, if you look into it in more detail, you should also be entitled to High Rate Mobility “If your child has severe behavioural problems and a severe mental impairment (SMI), or regularly refuses to walk due to a neurological condition (VUW)”. If you believe your child meets these criteria I'd highly recommend reading the guides I've linked to above. One thing I've seen recommended is videoing such behaviour and then asking a healthcare professional to review your videos and to write a supporting letter based on that evidence. The guides I've mentioned are very good, but if looking to claim under SMI or VUW criteria I would also suggest that you look at the relevant sections of the Decision Makers Guide (VUW P37-48, SMI P52-59):

And it's also worth looking at your child's condition in “Medical Guidance for DLA and AA Decision Makers (child cases): Staff Guide”:

https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment\_data/file/1054301/a-z-child-medical-conditions.pdf

If you're not awarded what you believe you should be entitled to, in the first instance you can ask for Mandatory Reconsideration of your case, where your application will be looked at again (you must request this within one month of the date on your decision letter). If your Mandatory Reconsideration is unsuccessful, you are then able to formally appeal to the Social Security and Child Support Tribunal. You will get a chance to attend your tribunal in person and to present your evidence. Your case will be heard and decided by an independent judge.

Fightback4Justice \(Advocacy for Disabled People\)

Founded in 2013, Fightback4Justice is an award winning, non-profit organisation, providing specialised, expert advice and help on various welfare benefit claims; from advocacy and representation at court to guidance with forms for PIP, ESA, DLA & UC. They are highly recommended by many people for helping with DLA mandatory reconsiderations and tribunals.

<https://www.facebook.com/FightBack4Justice>

Motability Scheme

If you are awarded the High Rate Mobility Component of Disability Living Allowance, you have the option of using some or all of it to lease a car through the Motability scheme. The price of a lease is all inclusive (insurance servicing, maintenance, breakdown cover, tyre replacement and windscreen repairs).

For more details see: <https://www.motability.co.uk/>

They also offer some charitable grants for Cars and Adaptions, Wheelchair Accessibility, Complex Solutions, Driving Lessons, Additional Support, Access to Work, Stopped Allowances and Special Grants. For details see:

<https://www.motability.org.uk/charitable-grants/>

Disabled Blue Badge

These are available to more people than you might think. Eligibility is not only for those who cannot walk or have difficulty walking, but you could also be entitled to one should your child have behavioural difficulties due to for example being Autistic or having a developmental delay and being unaware of danger around them, or if they need to be near your vehicle when out due to a health condition. If your child receives the high rate mobility component of Disability Living Allowance they'll automatically be entitled to a Blue Badge.

<https://www.gov.uk/apply-blue-badge>

Radar Key \(For Accessing Disabled Toilets & Accessible Play Equipment\)

A radar key is a large skeleton key that opens over 10,000 locked disabled toilets around the UK. They also unlock accessible play equipment in some parks and playgrounds. They're easy to apply for through your local district council:

<https://westsussex.local-offer.org/services/579-radar-key>

<https://www.horsham.gov.uk/community/accessible-toilets>

Or Google search for your local council and radar key, or you can buy one for £ 5 from Disability Rights UK:

<https://shop.disabilityrightsuk.org/products/radar-key>

Changing Places has a directory of toilets for those that require a bench or hoist <https://www.changing-places.org/find>

Apply for Carer's Allowance

Carers Allowance

Carers allowance is a benefit available to you if you care for someone for at least 35 hours a week (you do not get paid extra if you care for more than one person. If someone else also cares for the same person as you, only one of you can claim Carer's Allowance). The current rate for Carers Allowance is £69.70 a week. To be eligible for carers allowance you must care for your child for at least 35 hours a week and the child must be in receipt of the middle or highest rate care component of Disability Living Allowance.

You can only claim if your income after Tax, National Insurance and Expenses is £132 a week or less.

For more details see: <https://www.gov.uk/carers-allowance>

Education, Health And Care Plans \(EHCPs\)

“An Education, Health and Care plan (“EHC plan”) is a legal document which describes a child or young person’s special educational needs, the support they need, and the outcomes they would like to achieve.” Once in place an EHCP can allow your child to access specialist support, schools and therapy and will put in place the funding for this.

<https://www.gov.uk/children-with-special-educational-needs/extra-SEN-help>

To set up an EHCP you need to apply for an Education, Health and Care Needs Assessment from your Local Authority. You can make this application yourself or it can be done by your child's school, nursery, doctor, health visitor etc

The process is a lengthy one and you need to convince the local authority in the first place that they actually need to assess your child, so it's important to include as much evidence as possible in your application. There are some really good guides on the internet which I would recommend studying before applying.

<https://www.ipsea.org.uk/pages/category/education-health-and-care-plans>

<https://westsussexsendias.org/education-health-care-plans/>

IPSEA have a template letter to use when requesting a needs assessment:

SENDIAS

West Sussex SENDIAS (SEND Information, Advice and Support) Service provides confidential and impartial information, advice and support to children and young people who have special educational needs and/or disabilities and to their parent carers. They are mainly focussed on accessing education and EHCPs. Their website has a number of really good guides, factsheets and leaflets.

<https://westsussexsendias.org/>

IPSEA \(Independent Provider of Special Education Advice\)

Help children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities, and their families and carers, to get the appropriate education, training and support to which they are entitled under the law. As well as having an advice service, their website also offers a number of guides on things like choosing schools, EHCPs, SEN Law, transport to school etc

<https://www.ipsea.org.uk/>

Apply For A Needs Assessment by the Children With Disability Services (Social Care Support)

You can do this in West Sussex by emailing wschildrenservices@westsussex.gov.uk stating that you wish to apply for an assessment by the Children with Disabilities Service and detailing a brief summary of your child's needs, or call the Integrated Front Door on 01403 229900.

Nationally, enter your details here: <https://www.gov.uk/apply-needs-assessment-social-services>

After applying they'll normally get back to you within 48hrs, telephoning to discuss why you think you need an assessment and telling you the next steps. If it's determined that you meet the eligibility criteria to have a full assessment, a social worker will arrange to visit you within 10 working days to complete the assessment (it is a requirement that they see your child as part of the assessment). The social worker will meet with you to discuss your situation, what help you would like and what they might be able to provide you. They will discuss things like your child's care needs, the affect this has on your life and the support network you have. They will complete the assessment within 45 days. Their report will be shared with you and any needs Identified will be developed with you into a child and family support plan.

To many the idea of volunteering to be assessed by a social worker might seem strange, but they can be an excellent way of accessing support services and finding out about assistance that you didn't even know was available. (Support available can include support from an allocated social worker or a child & family worker (CFW), direct payments that enable parents and carers to employ a personal assistant (PA) to support their disabled child and allow some breaks from caring, home care support or support to access the community through a specialist care agency, overnight short breaks, specialist assessments and behavioural support through organisations such as Aspens, access to targeted short breaks provisions across the county, including after school clubs, Saturday clubs and holiday play schemes). Also your report from this assessment can be helpful when applying for other support, such as in a DLA application.

Chicken Pox Vaccine

This won't be for everyone, but we were concerned that our son wouldn't cope well if he were to get Chicken Pox, so we decided to get him vaccinated. The vaccination isn't available on the NHS, but you can get it through Boots and other private healthcare providers. It isn't that cheap, Boots currently charge £140 for a full vaccination, but we decided it was worth paying, compared to if we and our son were to have to deal with him having Chicken Pox instead.

<https://www.nhs.uk/conditions/vaccinations/chickenpox-vaccine/>

<https://www.boots.com/services/health-pharmacy-advice/vaccinations/chickenpox-vaccination-service>

Free School Transport / Claim Mileage For Taking Your Child to School

If your child has an EHCP or Statement of Special Educational Needs and you live 2 or more miles away from their school if the child is under 8, or 3 or more miles away if your child is 8 or over, you should be entitled to be provided with free transportation for them to and from their school. (For more information on eligibility see: <https://www.ipsea.org.uk/pages/category/transport-to-school-or-college>)

Something that seems to be not so well known is that if you decline this offer and elect to take your child to and from school yourself, you are entitled to claim the return mileage from your house to the school twice a day (some authorities only seem to cover one return journey a day), for every day they have attended at a rate of 25p per mile.

If this applies to you, you can request a claim form by emailing: school.transport@westsussex.gov.uk

They'll need your child's name, DOB, your address and a brief explanation that your child has an EHCP (or Statement of SEN), which school they attend and that they were entitled to free school transportation which you chose not to use. The form then has to be signed by the school to confirm your child's actual attendance.

For more information see: <https://www.westsussex.gov.uk/>

Nationally look here:

Larger General Waste Bins

You can apply for a larger household general waste bin (wheelie bin) for your house if you meet the following criteria: Households with five or more permanent residents, households with three or more children in nappies, households with medical needs. Medical needs could be for example having an older child who still wears nappies. Once you've applied the council will ask you to prove you need the larger bin by leaving all your extra rubbish that will not fit in your regular sized wheelie bin by the side of your bin for two consecutive bin collections. The bin collectors are supposed to assess this, but I would recommend that you take pictures of what you've left out as we initially had our application refused (apparently due to no extra rubbish being left out), but as soon as I provided them with pictures of what we had left out, we had our application approved.

<https://www.horsham.gov.uk/waste-recycling-and-bins/household-bin-collections/apply-for-a-larger-general-waste-bin>

Or do a Google search for applying for a larger bin in your local council area.

Watersure

Is a scheme which caps your water bills. To qualify you need to be on a means tested benefit, have a water meter, and need to use a large amount of water either for medical reasons or because you have 3 or more school age children in your household. Different water companies have slightly different eligibility, with some, being on DLA will make you eligible (not Southern water though).

Reaching Families \(West Sussex, but information largely applicable to the whole of UK\)

Is a West Sussex organisation that aims to “empower, inform and support parents and families of children and young People with special educational needs and disabilities in West Sussex”. They offer a number of services including benefits advice, fact sheets, training workshops, support groups and a Facebook group.

They also publish the excellent “Making Sense Of It All” which is available to download for free as an ebook via this link:

<https://www.reachingfamilies.org.uk/guides.html>

It's a lengthy publication, but it covers in detail everything from the first time you think your child may be having difficulties, getting a diagnosis and then finding the help they need, right through to growing up to becoming an adult with special needs.

Sandcastle Trust

Supports families living with a rare genetic condition. They offer bespoke family respite, wrap around fun family engagement activities and peer support.

Selective Mutism Information & Research Association \(SMIRA\)

Selective mutism is a communication anxiety disorder. SMIRA is a charity which supports families with selectively mute children and provides information to health and education professionals.

<http://www.selectivemutism.org.uk/>      <https://www.facebook.com/groups/SMIRASelectiveMutism>

The Sunflower Lanyard Scheme for Hidden Disabilities

The Sunflower Scheme aims to bring awareness and visibility to non-visible disabilities. By wearing a Sunflower Lanyard you can easily make others aware that you are someone you care for has a hidden disability. We have found that this can make you feel much more comfortable when out and about and that you don't feel the constant need to be explaining yourself to others and some settings will have staff who are specially trained to offer extra assistance to those who need it.

You can also enter your postcode on their website to find local places with people who are trained to recognise and support those wearing a Sunflower Lanyard who have hidden disabilities:

Time Aside

Time Aside

Offer sensory art sessions for children with additional needs and family fun days. Their website seems not to have been updated in a long time, but their Facebook page is kept up to date.

<https://www.facebook.com/timeasidesensoryart>

Tourettes Action

Tourette Syndrome is an inherited, neurological condition, the key features of which are tics, involuntary and uncontrollable sounds and movements. Tourettes Action offers news, information, advice and support.

Variety Children's Charity \(National Charity\)

Variety provide practical help that makes an immediate difference to disabled and disadvantaged children and young people under the age of 19, allowing them to live their best lives. They offer equipment grants (including hoists, beds, car seats, sensory and play equipment, assistive and medical technologies) and wheelchairs for children. They also offer Sunshine Coaches to support transport needs of SEND Schools and other non-profit organisations and through Variety Great Days Out they provide day trips for children and young people. In addition to all of this they also run several specialist hospitals.

<https://www.variety.org.uk/>

Understand Me – The Communication Library

Anyone who needs help with communication can borrow a range of free resources from any West Sussex library – all you need is a library card. Many resources are available to support effective communication. These include simple flashcards and devices for recording personal messages, and specially adapted toys to help young children learn through play. Some of these resources support people who use Alternative and Augmentative Communication (AAC).

<https://www.westsussex.gov.uk/libraries/more-library-services/understand-me-the-communication-library/>

Toy Libraries

Operate in a similar way to book libraries; you can borrow from a large selection of toys and resources to support your child’s developing needs and interests. There are toys aimed at children under the age of 5 and sensory toys or equipment for children and young people aged 0-19 with disabilities. The toy libraries are based in some family hubs and libraries.

<https://www.westsussex.gov.uk/education-children-and-families/support-for-families/toy-libraries/>

West Sussex Local Offer

Has a database of over 1,000 local services, events and information for children and young people aged 0 – 25 years who have special educational needs or disabilities. It doesn't seem to be kept that up to date as I found quite a few listings that are not current, but it can be a good place to start. They also have a Facebook page where they regularly post new local events.

WEST SUSSEX

Facebook Groups

There are many national and local Facebook groups focussed on SEND children and their carers. Just search for the relevant condition and add your town or area if you want to find one that's more locally focussed. Facebook is then pretty good at recommending other relevant groups. They can be a great place to ask questions as there will normally be someone who has already been through what you are going through to offer advice. It can also be really useful to see what other people are saying / asking so you can learn from their experiences and if nothing else, just realise that there are others out there going through similar things to you. They're normally well moderated and are usually private groups, so you'll have to apply to join and have your membership approved by a moderator before being able to access them. Here's a few examples:

ARFID Support For Parents & Carers In The UK/Ireland	Parenting Picky Eaters
Autism & ADHD Parent Support UK	PATH – Parenting Autism Together In Horsham
Autism and ADHD Support Group	Reaching Families
Autism and Sensory Processing Support UK	SMIRA - Selective Mutism Information and Research Association
Autism Parent Carer Group West Sussex	Southwater area parents and carers for children and young people with SEND
Autism Support Crawley	SPCS & Sensory Ideas @ Play Happy
Autism Support UK	Super Siblings
Contact – For Families With Disabled Children	Tourettes Action
EHCP/SEND Help	UK Autism Spectrum Parents Support Group
EHCP For Parents/Carers In West Sussex	UK Sensory Processing Disorder Support
Fightback4Justice	West Sussex Parent Carer Forum
Mid Sussex Parents of Children with Autism (MSPCA)
PACSO – Parent & Carers Support Organisation

There are also quite a few groups dedicated to special needs equipment and people selling equipment that they no longer need. Some of this equipment can be extremely expensive to buy new and you can save a lot of money when buying second hand. Just search for “Special needs equipment UK” and select the relevant group.

<https://fishersfarmpark.co.uk/>

Merlin Attractions

Merlin operates some of the UK's largest attractions including Alton Towers, Thorpe Park, Chessington World Of Adventures, Legoland, Sea Life Centres, Madame Tussauds Warwick Castle, The London Dungeon etc. They offer free entry for a carer accompanying a paying disabled visitor and at their theme parks they offer a Ride Access Pass – a virtual queueing system for those that would find queueing difficult, that lets you get straight onto the rides. The theme parks offer free wheelchair hire (with a refundable deposit) and Legoland also has a sensory room.

They offer various annual passes, which although expensive, work out much better value than buying individual tickets. (After you visit one of their parks, even if using a free ticket from Merlin's Magic Wand, you'll be sent a discount code to reduce the price of an annual pass even more). Once you've purchased an annual pass for your SEND child, you can then apply for a free carer's annual pass (carer's annual passes don't have a name on them, they can be used by one person who is accompanying the child, it does not always have to be the same person).
